DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on November 19, 2008 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 48 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In the claims submitted November 19, 2008, claim 48 appears to be incomplete. For present purposes of examination, claim 48 is understood to recite no limitations beyond those of claim 42, from which it depends.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 40-50 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Forde et al. (US 2002/0055767).

Forde discloses a medical device delivery system (Figures 1-4) comprising an inner shaft 22, an outer shaft 18 disposed over the inner shaft, a stent 16, 20 (See Abstract), a bumper 30 disposed on the inner shaft and including a bumper retainer 34, and a retaining member 48 extending from the stent body, the retaining member being releasably coupled to the bumper retainer. The retaining member includes at least two paddles 48 wherein each of the paddles includes a leg portion and a head portion. (Figure 1) The retaining member includes a partially open cell of the stent, and the bumper retainer interdigitates with the retaining member. The retaining members 48 also constitute arms 48.

Forde does not explicitly disclose that the stent is self-expanding, but teaches that it was well known to use self-expanding stents. (Paragraph 2) It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to make the stent of Forde self-expanding so that it may be deployed without the use of a balloon. Regarding the recitation that the stent is disposed between the inner shaft and the outer shaft, element 16 is considered to comprise a portion of the stent. Forde discloses positioning the outer shaft 18 over element 16 while the bumpers 34 of the inner shaft are interdigitated with the retaining members of the stent. (Paragraph 29) In this configuration, the at least a portion of the stent is disposed between the inner shaft and the outer shaft.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 40-50 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
